EXPLANATORY NOTES

This bulletin contains statistics of schools in Australia for 1967 with comparative figures for earlier years. "School censuses" are conducted annually in all States and the internal Territories of Australia at or about the beginning of August. The numbers of pupils in this bulletin refer to enrolments at the school census date. The numbers of schools and teachers refer to the position at dates which vary from State to State.

2. Differences in the school systems, especially as regards types of schools, ages of commencing full-time education, cessation of compulsory education, the grading of pupils and advancement from grade to grade, the systems of examinations, transfer from secondary to vocational education, and the recruitment and employment of teachers, have a major bearing on the figures presented in this bulletin. Such differences should be kept in mind in inter-State and inter-system comparisons. Reference is made in the following notes to the effect on specific tables of some differences in systems and in administrative arrangements. To assist in the interpretation of pupil statistics the bulletin contains a diagram of grades and examinations in the various school systems. However, reference should be made, as appropriate, to the annual reports of the State Education Departments. For a general description of the Australian school systems, see the latest issue of the Commonwealth Year Book (No. 53. - 1967) and for comparative statements see the various publications of the Commonwealth Department of Education and Science. Detailed schools statistics for individual States appear also in the publications of the Deputy Commonwealth Statistician in the State concerned.

3. In Section I, figures are given of the numbers of schools. The figures include the schools providing education according to the primary and/or secondary school curricula of the State Education Departments, whether provided in government or non-government schools. Junior technical schools, correspondence schools and schools in institutional homes, hospitals, missions and similar establishments are included. Institutions providing only pre-school education, senior technical and agricultural colleges, evening schools, continuation classes and institutions such as business colleges and coaching establishments are, as a rule, excluded.

4. "Special schools" are shown separately. A "special school" is a school specifically intended for the instruction of pupils who are physically or mentally handicapped, socially maladjusted, or who are in similar other categories not normally taught in ordinary schools, and who, but for these handicaps, would be receiving full-time education at ordinary schools. Schools specifically set up for the education of Aboriginal boys and girls requiring other than ordinary schooling are included as special schools. See also paragraphs 6 and 7 below.

5. Section II contains statistics of teachers. The numbers of full-time and part-time teachers are shown, and also part-time teaching in equivalent full-time units. A footnote to Table 4 indicates, as far as possible, the varying bases on which teacher figures have been compiled. Apart from the differences so noted, there are differences arising from the inclusion or exclusion of special purpose, casual and trainee teachers, the classification of teachers who, besides primary and secondary teaching, are also engaged on other duties, and the inclusion or exclusion of teachers who were employed for various periods during a year. Many differences of this nature remain between States and between systems, and the effect of these differences on the figures shown cannot be gauged. For these reasons, comparisons of teacher figures between States and systems and over years should be made with caution.

6. Section III provides information relating to pupils. Once a school is included in the collection, all pupils in that school are included, even though some of them may not receive primary or secondary education. For instance, there are schools in some States which cater for pre-school children as well as primary pupils. In these cases, the pre-school children are included in enrolments. However, adult correspondence pupils are excluded as far as possible. The figures in Table 7 show the total number of pupils in the various categories for schools set out in Table 1. It should be noted that pupils attending special schools may follow the normal curricula and pupils at ordinary schools may be in special classes, etc., and follow special curricula to suit their needs. Thus the figures provided in Table 7 give no indication of the number of boys and girls requiring or receiving special education. In addition there are differences in the organisation of special, Aboriginal and correspondence education in the various States.

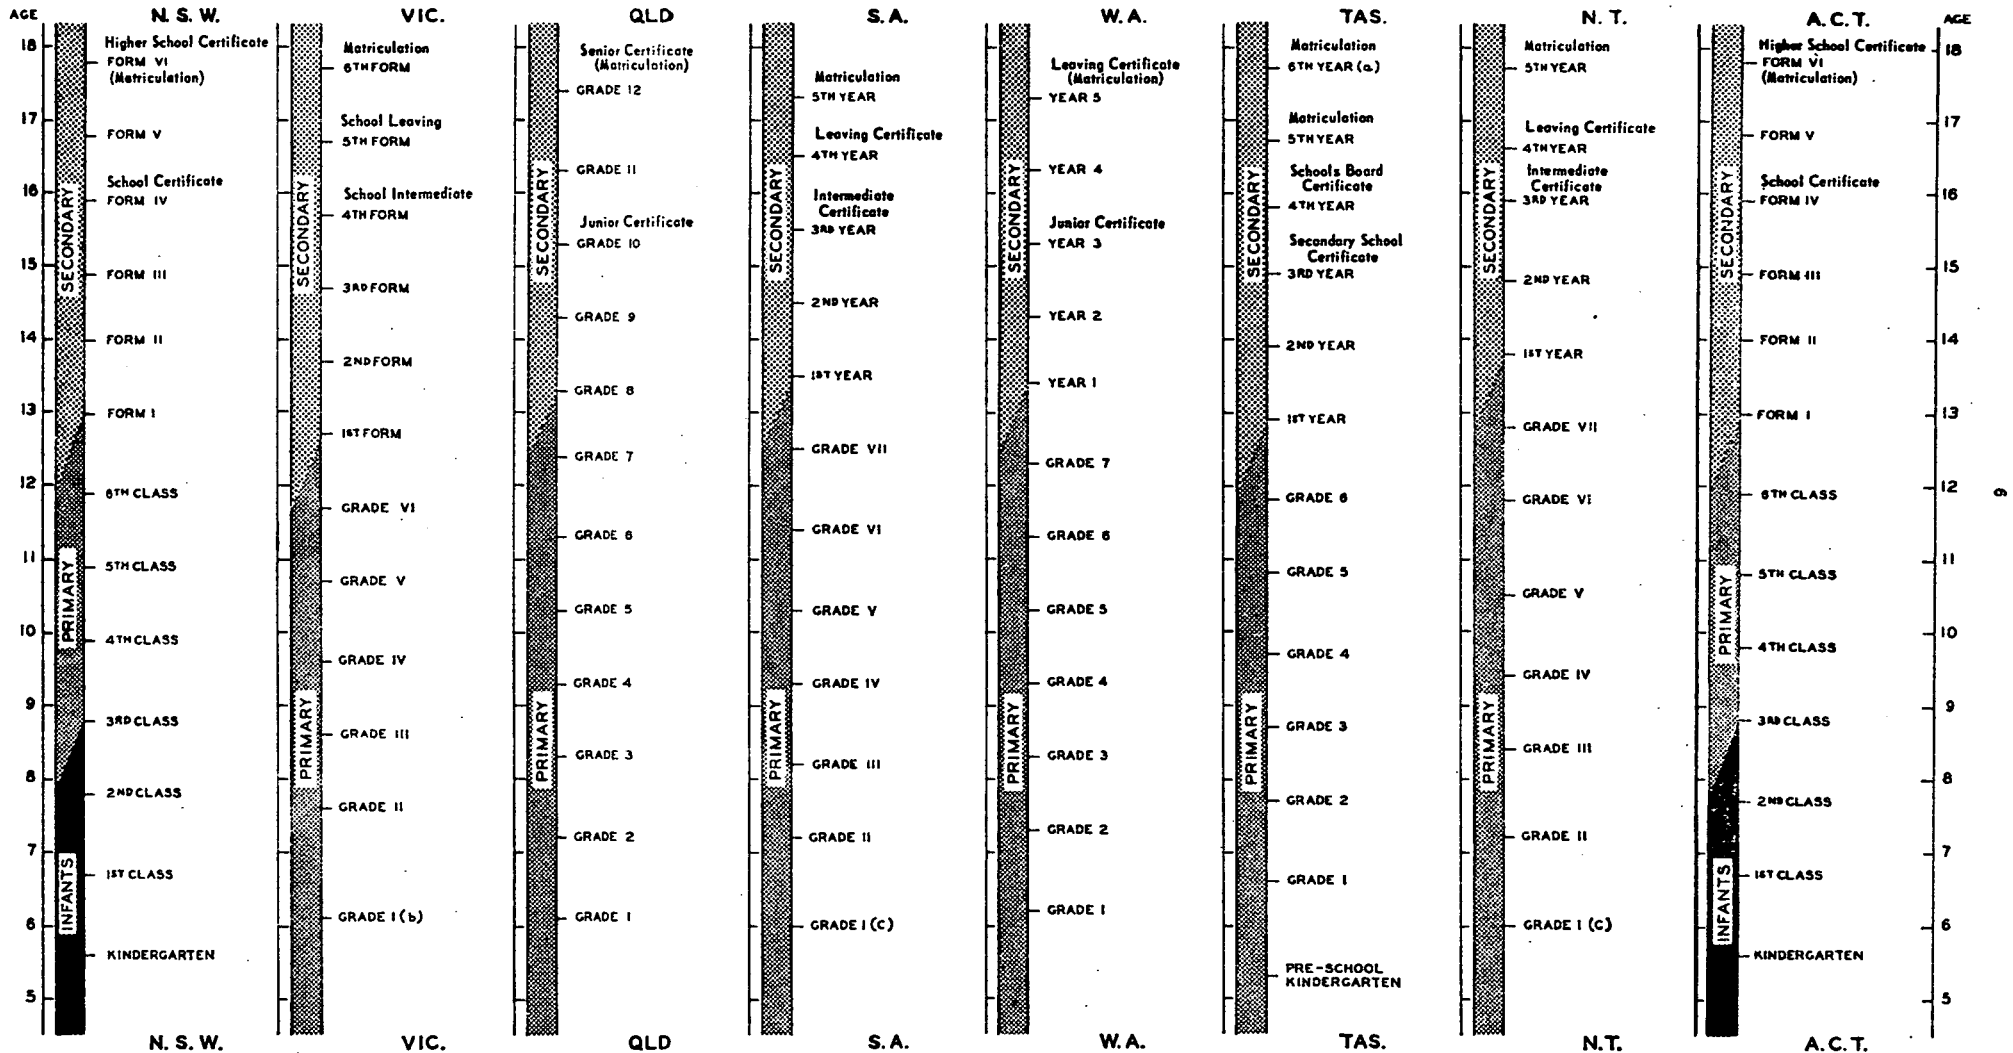

7. The grade information provided in Table 8 is not comparable between States and for this reason the State figures have not been aggregated into Australian totals. The grading of pupils differs for the various school systems in Australia because of the difference in curricula set by Education Departments. In addition, the methods of allocating classes to grades, particularly classes for special or ungraded pupils, vary from State to State and there are also differences in the administrative methods of aggregating grades of a more or less similar nature. There is some difference in the grading adopted, within each State, for government schools and various non-government schools, but these differences are likely to be small. While the tables have been slightly rearranged from the data provided by the Education Departments and other sources (for instance, separate tables for primary and secondary schools in some States were combined into one table), they represent essentially the system of grading adopted in each different State.

8. Tables 9 and 10 show ages of pupils for each State and for Australia. In Tables 11 to 13 comparative statistics of pupils are shown for earlier years. For 1964 and earlier years, the ages of certain pupils are not available. These pupils are included in the "age not stated" category in the tables.

9. Section IV shows pupils according to ages cross-classified with grades for each State and Territory. As in Table 8, the grade information provided is not comparable between States.

GRADES AND EXAMINATIONS IN THE PRIMARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOL SYSTEMS IN EACH STATE AND TERRITORY, 1967

The grade terminology follows, as nearly as possible, that used in government primary and high schools in each State in 1967. It is not necessarily used in all types of schools. The grades have been written in to agree with the age-scale shown on the diagram, in order to indicate differences in age-grade patterns between States. However, precise age-grade information is not available so that only an approximate indication can be given of the average age of pupils in each grade. The diagram should not be taken as a comparison of academic standards of grades between States. For a more detailed presentation of the systems operating in each State, reference should be made to diagrams etc. appearing in the annual reports of State education departments.

(a) In Tasmania many pupils study for Matriculation over a two year period
 (b) In Victoria, owing to differences in age of commencing school, younger pupils spend two years in Grade 1.
 (c) Kindergarten grades are attached to some schools in South Australia and the Northern Territory.

(a) See Explanatory Notes, paragraph 5. Teachers-in-training are generally excluded.

(b) The methods used for calculating equivalent full-time units of part-time teaching vary from State to State, between government and non-government schools and even between primary and secondary schools in the one State. For most non-government schools the information was supplied by individual schools and is based on either total hours worked or total number of class periods taken in a week by part-time teachers, in relation to the normal hours worked or class periods taken by full-time teachers at that school. The methods used for government schools were essentially of three types; (i) total hours worked per week by part-time teachers related to average hours worked by full-time teachers; (ii) part-time payments as proportions of corresponding full-time salaries and (iii) half-days or full-days worked by part-time teachers expressed as fractions of a five-day week or 20-day month. (c) If a full-time teacher teaches both senior and junior technical school pupils, he is counted as part-time in these statistics which include junior technical, but not senior technical schools. (d) Visiting teachers who attend more than one school are counted as part-time in each school visited. (e) Unqualified teachers and teaching assistants at mission schools are excluded.
