Of the total, 2,297,979 students (79 per cent) were enrolled in government schools and 621,301 students were enrolled in non-government schools (496,199 in Catholic schools and 125,102 in other non-government schools).
- The number of teachers (full-time teachers plus equivalent full-time units of part-time teaching) increased by 7 per cent from 142,370 in 1974 to 152,431 in 1975.
- In 1975 there were 7,162 primary schools, 1,397 secondary schools and 847 schools with both primary and secondary enrolments, a total of 9,406 schools, 46 fewer than in 1974.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Introduction

This bulletin Schools 1975 (Reference No. 13.5) contains detailed statistics of schools, teachers and students in Australia. Preliminary statistics for 1975 were published in School Enrolments 1975 (Preliminary), Reference No. 13.4, on 21 January 1976. Additional information can be found in publications of the Deputy Commonwealth Statistician in each State, various publications of the Department of Education, and in the annual reports of State Education Departments.

2. The statistics reported are not comparable between States nor entirely comparable between government and non-government schools in any one State because of differences in :

- (a) school systems, especially type of school;
- (b) the grading of students and their advancement;
- (c) the examination systems;
- (d) the transfer from secondary to vocational education; and
- (e) the recruitment and employment of teachers.

Scope and Definitions

3. Schools are classified as government or non-government and may provide primary, secondary, or both primary and secondary education. They include junior technical schools; correspondence schools (included in government ordinary schools); schools in institutions and hospitals; mission schools and similar establishments. They exclude pre-schools and kindergartens not incorporated in ordinary schools, senior technical and agricultural colleges, evening schools, continuation classes, institutions such as business colleges, and coaching colleges. Special Schools are those specifically intended for the instruction of students who are physically or mentally handicapped, or socially maladjusted. Special schools also include schools specifically set up for the education of Aboriginal children requiring other than ordinary schooling.

4. Teacher statistics include teaching staff, principals and head teachers, whether permanent or temporary, but exclude teachers-in-training, teachers on leave without pay, and other teachers engaged wholly in advisory, administrative or other non-teaching duties. Variations occur from State to State in :

- (a) the treatment of special purpose and casual teachers;
- (b) the classification of teachers who, in addition to primary or secondary teaching, are also engaged on other duties.

5. All teaching staff are classified as either full-time or part-time. Part-time teachers (including visiting teachers) teaching at two or more schools are shown as part-time at each school. Part-time staff have also been expressed in units of full-time equivalents. The methods used for calculating equivalent full-time units of part-time teaching vary from State to State and even between schools within States. Most schools base their calculations on hours worked, number of class periods, or proportion of full-time salary.

6. In Victoria, a teacher may teach both senior and junior technical students. For the purposes of this bulletin (which includes junior technical but not senior technical schools) such a teacher is counted as full-time if the teaching load in the junior school is at least 75 per cent of a full-time teaching load and part-time if the teaching load is less than 75 per cent.

7. Students. Student statistics refer to the number of students enrolled at the schools included in this collection at the August schools census date. Children in pre-schools incorporated in ordinary schools are included except in Queensland where they have, since 1973, been included in a separate pre-school statistical collection. In Western Australia and Northern Territory administrative changes have resulted in children in pre-school classes or schools being included in the Schools Census for the first time in 1975 as they are part of, or administered by, ordinary schools. Students enrolled at government correspondence schools in courses designed for adults or employed persons are excluded from all student tables in this bulletin. For 1975 the numbers involved were : 3,800 (1,479 males and 2,321 females) in Queensland and 6 (2 males and 4 females) in Tasmania.

8. Methods of allocating classes to grades, particularly classes for students in special categories vary from State to State : students at special schools may follow the normal curriculum and students at ordinary schools may be in special classes and follow special curricula. In addition there are differences in the organisation of special Aboriginal education in the various States and the Northern Territory.

9. In New South Wales in 1975 there were thirteen special schools, each of which was partly staffed by government teachers and partly by non-government teachers thereby forming distinct units (government and non-government) within each school. For statistical purposes each unit (including teachers and students) has been treated as a separate school.

10. A number of schools (other than special schools), are no longer maintaining a formal grade structure. These schools allocate students to 'groups' for each subject according to their ability in that subject. States either allocate these 'groups' to grades or show them as 'Ungraded non-special'.

11. A table classifying students by age and level of schooling (primary or secondary) is included for the first time. See Table 15.

GRADES IN GOVERNMENT SCHOOLS, STATES AND TERRITORIES, 1975

The above diagram shows the usual grades in government primary and secondary schools in each State and Territory. Approximate average ages (at August 1975) for each grade in each State and Territory are given in order to indicate differences in age-grade patterns. The diagram should not be taken as a comparison of academic standards of grades between States. For a more detailed presentation of the systems operating in each State, reference should be made to diagrams, etc. appearing in the annual reports of State Education Departments.

In all States and Territories, the non-government school sector has an average age-grade pattern which is very similar to that for government schools. It should be noted that in some States and Territories there is a trend in both government and non-government schools not to allocate pupils into a grade structure.

- Further explanatory notes:
- (a) In N.S.W. and A.C.T., kindergarten, and grades 1 and 2 are termed "infants" grades.
 - (b) In Queensland all pre-school children were excluded from the School Census.
 - (c) Reception refers to children who commenced school for the first time between March and August.
 - (d) In Tasmania most students study for the Higher School Certificate over a two year period.
 - (e) In Tasmania, many children attend two years kindergarten grade.
 - (f) For age distribution within grades refer to age-grade tables which are available on request from the Bureau.
