Building activity

For the June quarter 1998, the total number of dwelling units commenced fell by 5.8% from the previous quarter to 1,552 and was 8.2% below the level of a year earlier. The corresponding figures for Australia were an increase of 7.8% and 10.5% respectively. In annual terms, the index has shown a 1.5% increase between September 1997 and September 1998.

The Price Index of Materials used in House Building rose by 0.2% for the September quarter 1998 in Adelaide. The major contributors to the rise in the index were increased prices for structural timber. The weighted average of the six State capitals recorded a 0.3% increase in the same period.

Materials used in house building

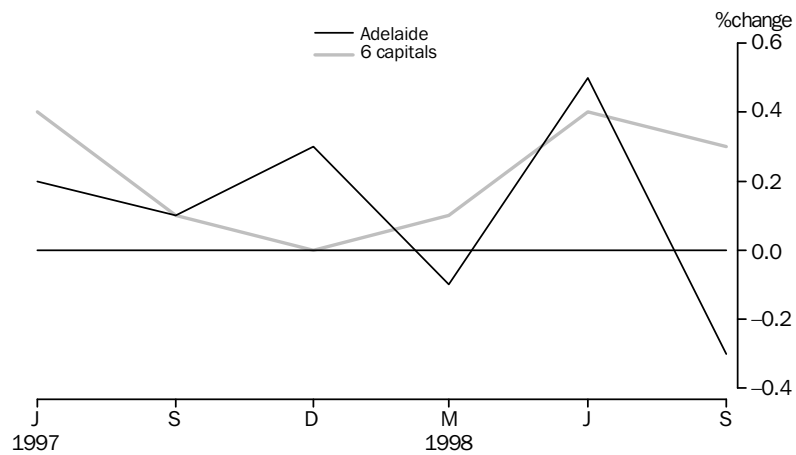

Non-house building materials index

Materials to record increases were structural timber and builders hardware which were more than offset by decreases in the price of re-inforcing steel bar, fabric and mesh, and ready mix concrete. The decreases were mainly the result of increased competition in the market place. For the same period, the weighted average of the six State capitals rose 0.3%.

For the 12 months to September quarter 1998, Adelaide recorded a rise of 0.4% in the Index, while the weighted average of the six State capitals showed a 0.7% increase in the same period.

The index has been compiled on a quarterly basis from September 1995 with a base of 100.0 in 1993-94. The All Groups index number for June quarter 1998 is 109.8, down from 110.5 in the previous quarter. This fall is due to decreases in the prices of distillate and depot leasing charges.

LABOUR FORCE AND DEMOGRAPHY

Population

At 31 March 1998 the estimated resident population of South Australia was 1,485,354. This was an increase of 2,485 persons from the December quarter and was due to a natural increase of 2,083 persons and a net migration increase of 402 persons.

Between 31 March 1997 and 31 March 1998 the population for South Australia grew by 0.5% compared with the Australian rate of 1.2%.

Short-term overseas visitor arrivals

In August 1998 there were 6,127 short-term overseas visitor arrivals to South Australia, an increase of 12.9% on the previous month. A comparison with the same period last year shows a fall of 17.9%. The South Australian proportion of short-term visitors was 1.9% for July 1998.

The Australian data for the same period shows a 13.1% decrease on last month whilst the annual change was a fall of 2.0%.

Short-term resident departures

There were 12,182 short-term resident departures in August 1998. This represents a decrease of 12.0% from last month and a 8.3% increase on last year. South Australia accounted for 4.6% of all short-term resident departures in August.

Short-term arrivals and departures

Employment

The trend estimate of employed persons increased 0.5% in October 1998 and is the sixth month of increase after a period of decline. When compared with 12 months ago the level of employment is 1.4% lower and can be mainly attributed to a decline in female employment of 6,100. In particular, part-time employment for females in South Australia fell by 8,100 in the 12 months to October 1998.

The trend estimate of full-time employment has now increased for the past 5 months. The October 1998 level of 472,300 is 0.4% above the number reported 12 months ago. During this period the male full time estimate has decreased 0.1% whilst the female employment rose 1.4%

Employed persons

Labour force participation

The labour force participation rate expresses the labour force (or all employed and unemployed persons) as a percentage of the total population aged 15 and over. It measures the economically productive or active element in the working age population.

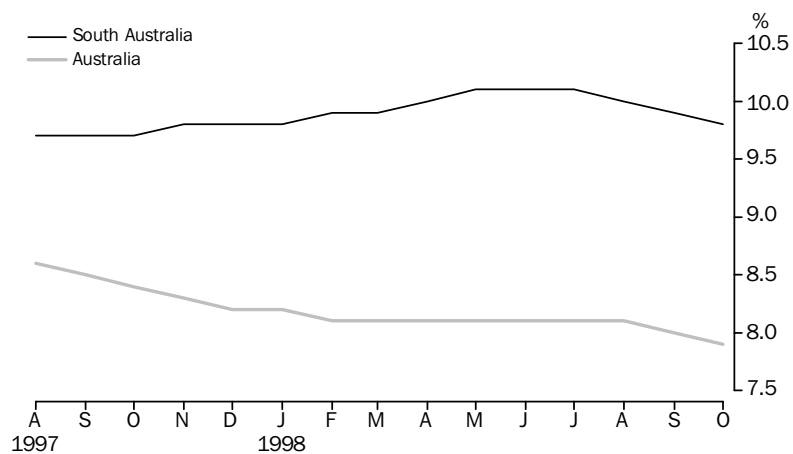

The trend estimate of the labour force participation rate in October 1998 was 60.6%. Although the estimate has increased in recent months, the current level is lower than the 61.8% recorded in October 1997. A combination of factors including the ageing of the State population, reduced female labour force participation and the growing tendency to undertake post-school education, have contributed to the overall decline in the rate.

Unemployment

The trend estimate of the unemployment rate has fallen over the past 3 months; down from 10.1% in July 1998 to 9.8% in October 1998. The trend unemployment rate for Australia has decreased from 8.1% to 7.9% over the same period.

In unadjusted, original terms, the teenage full-time unemployment rate fell from 36.6% in September 1998 to 35.4% in October 1998. The latest result indicates that 7,600 persons aged 15–19 were actively seeking full-time work out of a teenage, full-time labour force of 21,500. However, it does not mean that nearly 4 in 10 of the State's teenagers were unemployed. In fact the majority of 15–19 year olds were unavailable for full-time work, with 40,400 being full-time students and 33,900 in the part-time labour force.

Unemployment rates: Trend

FORWARD OUTLOOK

Composite leading indicator for Australia

The Composite Leading Indicator (CLI) is a single time series produced by aggregating eight individual economic indicators, and has been developed by the ABS as an experimental series to supplement existing forms of economic analysis and modelling.

The CLI summarises the early signals contained in a selection of economic indicators and is designed to assist the detection of turning points between successive expansions and slow downs of economic activity as measured by constant price GDP(A). It does not attempt to forecast the level of economic activity.

Composite leading indicator for Australia

In the June quarter 1998 the experimental CLI fell 0.26%, following a fall of 0.14% in the March quarter 1998. This third consecutive fall gives a provisional peak in the CLI in the September quarter 1997.

The quarterly data are released in more detail in the Australian Economic Indicators (Cat. no. 1350.0). The CLI was the topic of the Focus article in the September 1993 edition of South Australian Economic Indicators (Cat. no. 1307.4). A review of the performance of the CLI and its components was published in the July 1997 issue of Cat. no. 1350.0.

Business expectations

Surveys of business expectations have been available to decision makers for a number of years from several sources. These surveys provided qualitative indicators in the form of the net proportion of businesses expecting a rise or fall in future business conditions. Since the December quarter 1993, the ABS has been compiling a quantitative indicator of business expectations in the form of an expected weighted aggregate change in a range of economic variables. These data are available on a quarterly basis in Australian Business Expectations (Cat. no. 5250.0).
